WHOLESALE RAIDS ON ATLANTIC CITY CAFES

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 30.—State prohibition agents aided by private detectives early today raided many board walk cafes in which was described as the greatest attempt ever made to make Atlantic City bone dry. The warrants served totaled 126.

The raids began late last night and continued until dawn.

More than a score of cafes had been assembled for the job. Mr. Gaskill was unable to estimate the value of liquor already seized, but predicted that it would run high into thousands of dollars.

Board walk establishments raided included Martin's cafe, Cafe de Paris, the Moonlight Room and Thomas Moore's cafe. Many other places in other sections of the city were visited and several employees arrested.

Mr. Gaskill expressed fear that some difficulty would be experienced in leading certain persons for whom warrants had been issued as he supposed they had taken alarm and fled.

BLOOD-SELLER CLAIMS WORLD TITLE

By Newspaper Enterprise

NEW YORK, August 30.—Who is the world's champion blood giver?

Recently Thomas Shaw, a Philadelphia grocer, contended that he was.

Now comes Thomas Kane, special policeman at the Pennsylvania Terminal building in New York, who says he has gone Shaw several better.

And he challenges Shaw as to his right to the blood-giving crown.

Kane has submitted to 26 blood transfusion operations.

Since 1914 Kane has furnished his life-blood to 42 people, over 90 percent of whom have recovered.

During that time 32 quarts of blood have been taken from his veins—more than six times the average amount of blood in the human body.

Kane frankly admits that blood-giving, or selling, is a business with him.

"I have never felt any ill effects from any of the operations," he says, "except once in a while a sickness of the stomach, and that disappeared as soon as I put a square meal under my belt."

"Even when I gave blood three times in 10 days I felt no different than I do now."

"I have never seen any of the people to whom I have given my blood, except on the operating table. Though this is purely business with me, I have given blood to two poor women who were dying from loss of blood, due to childbirth. I was glad to do that."

"The money I get—from $75 to $100 an operation—means a lot to me."

"I first got into the business through answering an ad in 1914. I stood the test and the patient recovered. Since then doctors have passed 'my name' around and I get quite a number of calls."

Kane is five feet six and three-fourths inches tall and weighs 165 pounds.

BURGENLAND IS SEIZED BY INSURGENT HUNGARIANS

VIENNA, August 30.—Burgenland, a narrow strip of territory situated along the Hungarian border, which was awarded Austria by the treaty of St. Germain, is apparently in possession of Hungarian insurgents, with Lieutenant Hajjas enacting the role of Adolf Hitler in Upper Silesia or Captain Gabriele D'Annunzio in Fiume. The government is not receiving any news from the district, where on Sunday night irregular Hungarian forces attacked Austrian gendarmes sent to occupy the district. Austrian Commissioner Davy, however, reports from the town of Mattsdorf, that he narrowly escaped being killed in Odenburg.

There are unconfirmed reports that one allied officer has been killed or wounded in the fighting in Burgenland. Lieutenant Hajjas is reported to have posted placards throughout the district calling to the colors all men under 45 years of age. It is also said that 3,000 Hungarian regular troops have arrived and are encamped near Odenburg. A detachment of 200 Austrian gendarmes is reported surrounded at Geresdorf.

Armed Forces Swell Strength For Fight

STARTLING DESCRIPTION OF CONDITIONS ON THE LOGAN-BOONE LINE

CHARLESTON, W. VA., August 30.—A. C. Porter, United Mine Workers' Executive Board member, gave the following startling report on conditions along the Logan-Boone county line to C. F. Keeney, president of District 17, United Mine Workers of America.

"With all males from the ages of 14 to 60 under arms, women and children fleeing in panic over the line into Boone county, armed patrols arriving and departing and every available conveyance carrying supplies to the picket posts in the hills, the Sharples-Blair sector may well be compared with Belgium in the early days of the World War."

"On the northern side of the mountain, which serves as a water shed to both Coal and Guyandotte rivers, lies the camp and main force of the miners. Similarly situated on the southern side are the Logan county deputies and the state police. The miners have advanced picket lines in the hills. Should these men clash, it would draw into battle a total of 2,500 men. Along the tops there are trenches and breast works of rocks and felled trees."

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 30.—President Harding has declined to accede to the request of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, for a conference between miners and operators to thrash out the West Virginia coal troubles.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 30.—The sending of federal troops into West Virginia's coal regions to restore order entered the realm of probability today when military officers of the army were called into conference by President Harding to consider that question.

Decision as to whether federal troops would be sent to West Virginia, however, will await a conference to be held at the White House at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon.

Plans have been made for a troop movement by the general staff and it was said in the event it was ordered it would probably involve two regiments, already prepared and awaiting orders to move.

One of the regiments was said to be the nineteenth infantry located at Camp Sherman, Ohio, and Columbus barracks. The other is at Camp Dix, New Jersey.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., August 30.—Between 2,000 and 3,000 armed men have assembled at Jeffrey, in Boone county, close to the Logan county line, according to official advisers received here today. They are within easy striking distance of the disturbed section of Logan county, where four men were killed in a fight with state troopers and deputy sheriffs Sunday morning.

The authorities have also been informed that some 75 automobiles carrying armed men dashed out of the Cabell Creek Valley near here this morning and passing through Marmet continued up the Lens Creek valley, along the line taken by the men who set out to march to Mingo county last week.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 30.—Federal action may be taken in the West Virginia mine situation before night, it was indicated today at the White House. The nature of the possible action was not revealed though it was said President Harding and responsible officials of the war department were awaiting reports from an investigation already under way.

WELCH, W. VA., August 30.—Five hundred members of McDowell county post Number 8, American Legion, under command of Major W. E. Eubank, answering a call from Governor Morgan, left Welch today at noon in automobiles for Logan county. A message received here from Sheriff Hatfield, who is in Logan county, stated that tension was high and trouble was expected momentarily.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., August 30.—Last night was one of uncertainty as to what was happening along the Logan-Boone county line.

Early today it was much the same. Latest reports were a repetition of yesterday's, no more assuring, no less alarming.

Adjutant General Charnock was back in the capital after a hurried trip through the district Sunday night, and yesterday. The word picture he painted of the situation in a formal statement last night, was likened to a canvas depicting a storm-tossed sea. So alarming was it that Governor E. F. Morgan sent a midnight appeal to President Harding requesting immediate aid.

Armed Bands Refused To Disperse

In his request, addressed to the chief executive and Secretary of War Weeks, the governor quoted the adjutant general as reporting that during the trip he commanded armed bands to disperse, but that they refused to do so and continued to maintain

Pen Physician Is Suspended

COLUMBUS, Dr. O. M. Kramer, for 11 years physician at Ohio Pen, was suspended by Warden Thomas following Kramer's failure to officiate at the execution of Frank Motto at the institution Monday as is required by law.

Announcement of the appointment of Dr. Paul H. Charlton, of Columbus, to succeed Dr. Kramer, was announced today by Warden P. E. Thomas.

Violent Street Fighting Takes Place In Belfast

BELFAST, August 30.—Street fighting, which has been in progress since yesterday, became particularly violent after one o'clock today, the dinner hour at ninety factories in the side streets radiating from Donecain Gardens and North Queen's street.

One laborer was shot dead and several other persons were wounded, including one army sergeant. Civilians placed sand bags in the middle of the streets and maintained heavy firing against the police and military, who were forced to abandon the streets. Armored cars were summoned. At one time the patter of bullets resembled a hail storm.

Last night's rioting, when two persons were killed and several injured, was the most serious the city has experienced for some time. The police and military were engaged throughout the night in subduing gunmen and snipers who were operating from windows and roofs, and who continued their fusillade until after midnight. Street lamps were extinguished and the only light came from burning houses to which the rioters had set fire.

BELFAST, Aug. 30.—Rioting broke out in this city at noon yesterday and continued until midnight, began again at 7 o'clock this morning. One hour later it was reported that three had been added to the list of wounded, one of them being a woman. During the fighting yesterday and last night two persons were killed and six were wounded.

The rioters, who were particularly active in North Queen's street, and along the New Lodge road, ignored the curfew law, which provides that all persons not having business on the streets must be in their houses after 10:30 at night.

Reward Offer Expires Soon

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—The offer of a $50,000 reward for information leading to the finding of Ambrose Small, missing Toronto theatrical manager, expires on Thursday. It was announced today. The $15,000 offer for recovery of his body, if dead, expires at the same time.

Mr. Small disappeared on December 2, 1919. He recently was reported to have been found in Des Moines, Iowa, but the report was based on a case of mistaken identity.

Murder Bills Against Union Officials

WILLIAMSON, W. Va.—Indictments charging murder were returned by a special grand jury against C. F. Keeney, president, and Fred Mooney, secretary of District 17, United Mine Workers of America, and David Robb, international organizer for the mine worker's union.

Probing Of The Klu Klux Klan

CHICAGO, August 30.—Federal investigation of the Ku Klux Klan has been started in Chicago by John V. Clinin, assistant United States district attorney, he announced today.

Numerous complaints have been coming to his office since the organization of a branch of the Klan here three weeks ago, Colonel Clinin said. Allegations that the Klan is opposed to public policy, that it makes no accounting of the money it collects, that it makes a profit on its regalia and threatens to be a corporation operating for profit, and that its members have been ascribed to persons acting in the guise of the Klan, will form the basis of the investigation, according to Colonel Clinin.

"I don't wish, as yet, to cast any reflection upon the organization or its leadership—but if I find anything wrong I'll blow the lid off," Colonel Clinin said.

He said he had not yet decided whether the "world question" Colonel William Joseph Simmons, of Atlanta, Ga., acknowledged head of the organization.

Irish Reply Is Ready

DUBLIN, August 30.—The Daily Express's reply from Premier Lloyd George regarding the Irish peace proposals is expected to be dispatched to London this evening. It was learned unofficially today after Eamon DeValera, the Irish republican leader, had held a conference with the Daily Express.

Hungary Signs Treaty

BUDAPEST, August 30.—The treaty of peace between the United States and Hungary was signed here yesterday afternoon by Foreign Minister Banffy and Grant Smith, United States commissioner here.

The peace treaty signed in Budapest brings to an end the technical state of war between the United States and the countries formerly constituting the central empires of Europe. On Wednesday last a treaty was signed in Vienna by representatives of the United States and Austria and the following day a peace convention was executed in Berlin between the United States and Germany. No details of the peace account entered into Austria have yet been made public, but it is understood that both the Austrian and Hungarian conventions follow closely the lines of the treaty with Germany, which was made public the day of its signature.

GREEKS AND TURKS IN VIOLENT BATTLE

ATHENS, August 30.—Reports that Greek troops engaged in the offensive against the Turkish Nationalists in Asia Minor have suffered a reverse, are denied in an official statement issued here. It is declared, however, that the battle along the Sakaria river is continuing with violence.

Towns along the southern coast of the Black Sea have been bombarded by Greek warships, the statement says.

Harris Named Davis' Secretary

COLUMBUS, O., August 30.—Robert T. Harris, secretary of the Ohio tax commission, has been appointed secretary to Governor Davis. It was announced from the executive offices today. The new secretary, who is a resident of Columbus, will take up his duties September 1.

Senate To Get Peace Treaty

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 30.—The treaty of peace with Germany, which was signed last Thursday at Berlin, will be sent to the senate September 21, the day that congress reassembles after its thirty day recess, it was stated today at the White House.

Prompt ratification of the pact is understood to be hoped for by President Harding.

DR. DARBY DIES

COLUMBUS, Dr. P. H. Darby, 75, for 28 years superintendent of the Children's Home Society of Ohio, died at his home of paralysis.

FORD'S RATE CUT TO STAND IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, O., August 30.—The twenty percent reduction in freight rates on the Detroit, Toledo & Western Railroad announced by Henry Ford, will not be suspended by the interstate commerce commission so far as it applies to traffic within Ohio. This was the word received by the state public utilities commission from the federal body in response to a letter of protest sent recently by Judge E. E. Connelley for the commission.

From an order suspending application of the new rates embodying the twenty percent reduction, utilities commissioners were led to believe that both intrastate and interstate rates were affected. The letter just received, however, makes it clear that the suspension applies to interstate rates only and the reduction stands for intrastate rates.

The twenty percent cut in rates will be effective within Ohio beginning September 1.

CONFERENCE ON WAGE SCALE

CLEVELAND, O., August 30.—The wage committee of the National Window Glass Workers' Association met with a similar committee of the manufacturers here today in an effort to reach an agreement over a new wage contract.

An offer of reduction of 28 percent less than last year, made by the manufacturers during a conference at Pittsburgh last week, was rejected by the union at a meeting here. The men are willing to accept a 25 percent reduction, Joseph Noonan, president of the union, declared.

Three Killed In Battle

The Kanawha Coal Operators' Association statement yesterday that the three men killed in the engagement near Sharples between state troopers and deputy sheriffs and a band of armed men had been identified as William L. Greer, of Matewan, and Cecil Clark and W. M. Morrison, of Sharples, was borne out by the reports of Adjutant General Charnock and Mr. Porter. Clark's father is said to live at Catlettsburg, Ky. A fourth casualty, George May, received a slight wound.

According to Mr. Porter, several men at Sharples told him their stories of the fight. All agreed, he added. None of the men could say whether the troopers and deputies suffered any losses.

Boys Stood By With Arms

After the battle, Mr. Porter said his informants told him, all the miners in the vicinity, armed themselves and small boys stood with arms at their fathers' sides. Patrols that had been withdrawn from the mountains lying toward Logan were again thrown out.

Mr. Porter said the men told him that Magistrate Pullen McChell, his brother and two others, are held prisoners and will not be surrendered, but that they would be exchanged for captive miners at the rate of one captive deputy for ten miners.

Joker In Hughes-Knox German Peace Treaty; Anti-Leaguers Outwitted

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Is there a joker in the Hughes-Knox treaty just signed between the United States and Germany? The question is being asked by many who have closely studied the text of the document and discovered that the United States has not closed the door to possible membership in the League of Nations after all and that at any moment the executive branch of our government can consent to be bound by the covenant without the consent of the Senate or Congress.

Broadly Phrased Clauses

The joker is contained in Article Two of the new treaty which contains permissive clauses so broadly phrased as to permit a president or secretary

$8,500,000 To Keep U. S. Dry

By Newspaper Enterprise

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 30.—It will cost Uncle Sam $8,500,000 to keep the cup from the lip next year—or rather to try to do it.

That's the appropriation granted the Internal Revenue Department for enforcing the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act.

Besides that the Anti-saloon League will spend around $1,000,000 creating sentiment in favor of dry law enforcement, says Wayne D. Wheeler, general counsel for the league.

The government appropriation is expected to cover salaries of federal dry enforcement officials, pay of chemists to analyze the "evidence" laboratory supplies, traveling expenses of officials and rent of headquarters in cities throughout the country.

In 1920 the government made an appropriation of $2,000,000 for prohibition enforcement. It wasn't enough, so it was followed later by another $1,000,000 appropriation.

Of this, $5,000,000 the Internal Revenue Department spent $2,075,774.

In 1921 the Internal Revenue Department got an appropriation of $7,100,000, more than twice as much as in the previous year. The department hasn't reported yet on how it was spent.

Wheeler estimates the Anti-saloon League has been making an average annual expenditure of $1,000,000 and will keep that up as long as it seems necessary.

"But none of that goes directly for prohibition enforcement," he said. "It goes to educate the people and organize sentiment in favor of enforcing the law."

The man had worshipped a beautiful woman. Had laid all his love and hopes at her feet. Only to find her a cold and killing mockery. The girl had worshipped her father. Thought him a saintly benefactor of men. Only to find him a murderous rogue. So here life had tumbled down—broken, hopeless, abandoned—a little more clay in the mire of an underworld dive. But the clay was warm with youth, and in it a glimmer of old, fine dreams. The rest is a heart-stirring story of two souls' regeneration.

Betsy Ann Caught Behind Drained Pool; Is Forced To Abandon Trip; Here Next Tuesday

More than a score of local people were disappointed Tuesday when word was received at the wharfbait by Capt. Kibbie that the Betsy Ann, due to arrive here last night and leave this morning for Pittsburgh was held up at Ravenswood, W. Va., when the water between Dams 23 and 24 was released to make repairs to them. The Betsy Ann was compelled to turn around and go back to Pittsburgh. She is scheduled to arrive here next Monday and leave Tuesday for Pittsburgh. She was unable to complete her schedule this week afterward, it was explained, that Pools No. 23 at Racine, O., and Pool 24 at Millwood had been drained. Many local persons had made arrangements to make a round trip on the steel hulled Betsy Ann and were disappointed upon learning that she was marooned behind the Racine pool.

LIGHT AND WATER TURNED OFF AT PIKE COUNTY COURTHOUSE

Waverly, August 30.—The Pike corporation of Waverly. The order to county court house, located here, was turned off the water and the light was without water or light today, due to given by the Board of Public Affairs' failure to pay bills presented by the of Waverly, composed of Florence Rader, Lloyd Vallery and C. A. Ralor, who have charge of the village owned plants.

It is claimed that $400 has been due the village for some time, and that repeated attempts to collect were met with promises. When the last date set for the payment passed and the members of the board were again told there was no money on hand, the decision to take drastic action was made.

It was stated today that a considerable sum is also due from the Children's Home of this county for light and water and that unless this is paid action similar to that taken at the court house will be taken Saturday in regard to the Home.

IS YOUR BLOOD STARVING FOR WANT OF IRON?

Iron is Red Blood Food—It Helps to Put Strength and Energy Into the Veins of Men and Women Into the Checks of Women. Why Nuxated Iron so Quickly Builds Up Weak, Nervous Run-down People.

Thousands of men and women are impairing their constitutions, laying themselves open to illness and death, by neglecting their blood. Simply because their blood is thinning out and possibly starving through lack of iron. Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it robs him of the virile force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. It may also transform a beautiful, sweet-tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable.

Iron is absolutely essential to enable your blood to transform the food you eat into muscular tissue and brain. It is through iron in the red coloring matter of the blood, that life-sustaining oxygen enters the body. Without iron there is no strength, vitality and endurance to combat obstacles or withstand severe strains. Contrary to general opinion, lack of iron in the blood does not necessarily mean you do not have enough blood, but it means your blood is not of the right kind. To help make strong, keen, red-blooded people, there is nothing better than Nuxated Iron. Unlike the older iron preparations, it is easily assimilated, does not irritate the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. No matter what other tonics or iron remedies you have used without success, if you are strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can walk or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Numbers of nervous, run-down people who were all strength and endurance in two weeks' time while taking iron in the proper form. Nuxated Iron is now being used by over three million people annually, and the manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.—Advertisement.

Thief Gets Away After Returning Fire

IRONTON, O., August 30.—At an early hour this morning the home of Joseph J. Cloran, on North Fifth street, was entered by a bold thief who after stealing various articles from the lower part of the house attempted to enter Mr. Cloran's bedroom upstairs by removing a window screen from the porch.

Mr. Cloran was awakened by the noise of the intruder as he attempted to enter the room through the window, secured his revolver and fired. The man then ran around to the side of the house and started to descend when Mr. Cloran fired again, this shot being answered by the burglar. The man was observed by Mr. Wilks and Mr. Smith, neighbors, running away from the Cloran home.

PLAN FOR BIG HORSESHOE TOURNAMENT

HAMLIN, MINN., Aug. 30.—Thirty-six horse-shoe pitching clubs have been completed at the Minnesota state fair grounds for the annual tournament of the National Horseshoe Pitchers' Association, to be held September 2 to 10.

Among the prominent horse-shoe pitchers entered from various sections of the country are Frank Jackson, of Kellerton, Iowa, world's champion; D. I. Wilkinson, of Dinuba, Cal.; C. A. Glant, Huntsville, Ala., and Charles Bobbitt, of Lancaster, Ohio.

Bridge Reported In Bad Shape

PIKETON, Aug. 30.—The covered bridge which crosses Beaver Creek about a mile south of Piketon, is in a dangerous condition. A truck belonging to the Breese Lumber Co. of Portsmouth recently broke through the bridge, which has since been repaired temporarily. Truck drivers who are employed in hauling gravel from the Barnes Sand and Gravel Co. report that the bridge trembles dangerously when they pass over it with their heavily loaded trucks and unless some action is taken to repair the bridge at once they will refuse to cross.

Jr. O. U. A. M.'s To Hold Outing

The committee in charge of the second annual outing and picnic to be held by the Junior Order United American lodges of the county at the Lucasville fair ground, Labor Day, has completed a splendid program that will afford entertainment for the young and old from the time they arrive at the grove until the time comes to leave for home in the evening. Arrangements have been made to have local taxi companies to run cars to and from the grove. The program as outlined is as follows:

Speaking—12:30 to 1:30.
Sunday School program—1:30 to 2:30.
From 2:30 on there will be an athletic program filled with events. The program of races and contests includes a sack race, barrel race, a fat man's race, a fat woman's race, a potato race and a rooster race are on the program with three prizes offered in each event. Following the contests and races there will be a ball game between married men and single men. Martin's concert band has been engaged to play during the morning and afternoon.
All Jr. O. U. A. M. councils in the county are to have a part in this big time.

Scioto County Normal School

The fifth annual session of the Scioto County Normal School for the training of teachers will open at Wheelersburg, at the High School Building, September 6, 1921. Under the new law no person can enter the Normal who has not had at least two years of high school training. The completion of the course of 36 weeks carries with it a teacher's certificate for one year, without examination. This certificate is renewable twice for one year and three times for three years. As soon as the shortage of teachers in Ohio no longer exists no person as a new entrant can teach with less than one year of Professional Training. The County Normal provides the opportunity for persons at home to get training without the expense of going away to a state school.

Miss Abigail Bristow of Springfield has been recommended by the State Department of Public Instruction and employed by the County Board of Education, on the nomination of County Superintendent E. O. McCowen, to be the County Normal Director for the ensuing year. Persons desiring to enter the County Normal should confer with the County Superintendent at once, office second floor of the Turley Bldg., Home Phone 1213 E. O. McCOWEN, County Superintendent.

Coroner Investigating Death

IRONTON, O., August 30.—Rastus Hysle, of Arabia, aged 20 years, died Monday at his home at that place, after being discovered by Henry Arbogast, unconscious in a corn field, near Arabia about 2:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Dr. Wiseman was called and gave the man medical treatment, but efforts to save his life proved unavailing. Coroner Campbell went to the Hysle home Monday to conduct an inquest. A gallon jug containing about a quart of liquor was found near the unconscious man.

Failed To Find Missing Cow

The country-wide search instituted Monday by officers and others to recover the valuable Jersey cow stolen Sunday night from the dairy farm of Henry W. Gleim, Powellville farmer, was without result up until late Tuesday when the hunt was abandoned. The New Boston bloodhound on being taken to the scene took up a trail which led towards Ironton but the dog lost the scent in a woods a few miles from the Gleim farm, where it was thought the thief had taken refuge with the stolen bovine, but persons who watched all avenues of escape throughout the night abandoned their posts when it became apparent that the thief had made good his escape with the missing animal, probably into Kentucky.

Ironton Editor Is Appointed; Will Help Enforce Prohibition

The following from this morning's Irononian is of interest here as Mr. Paul is well known in Portsmouth having for several years been engaged in newspaper work here:

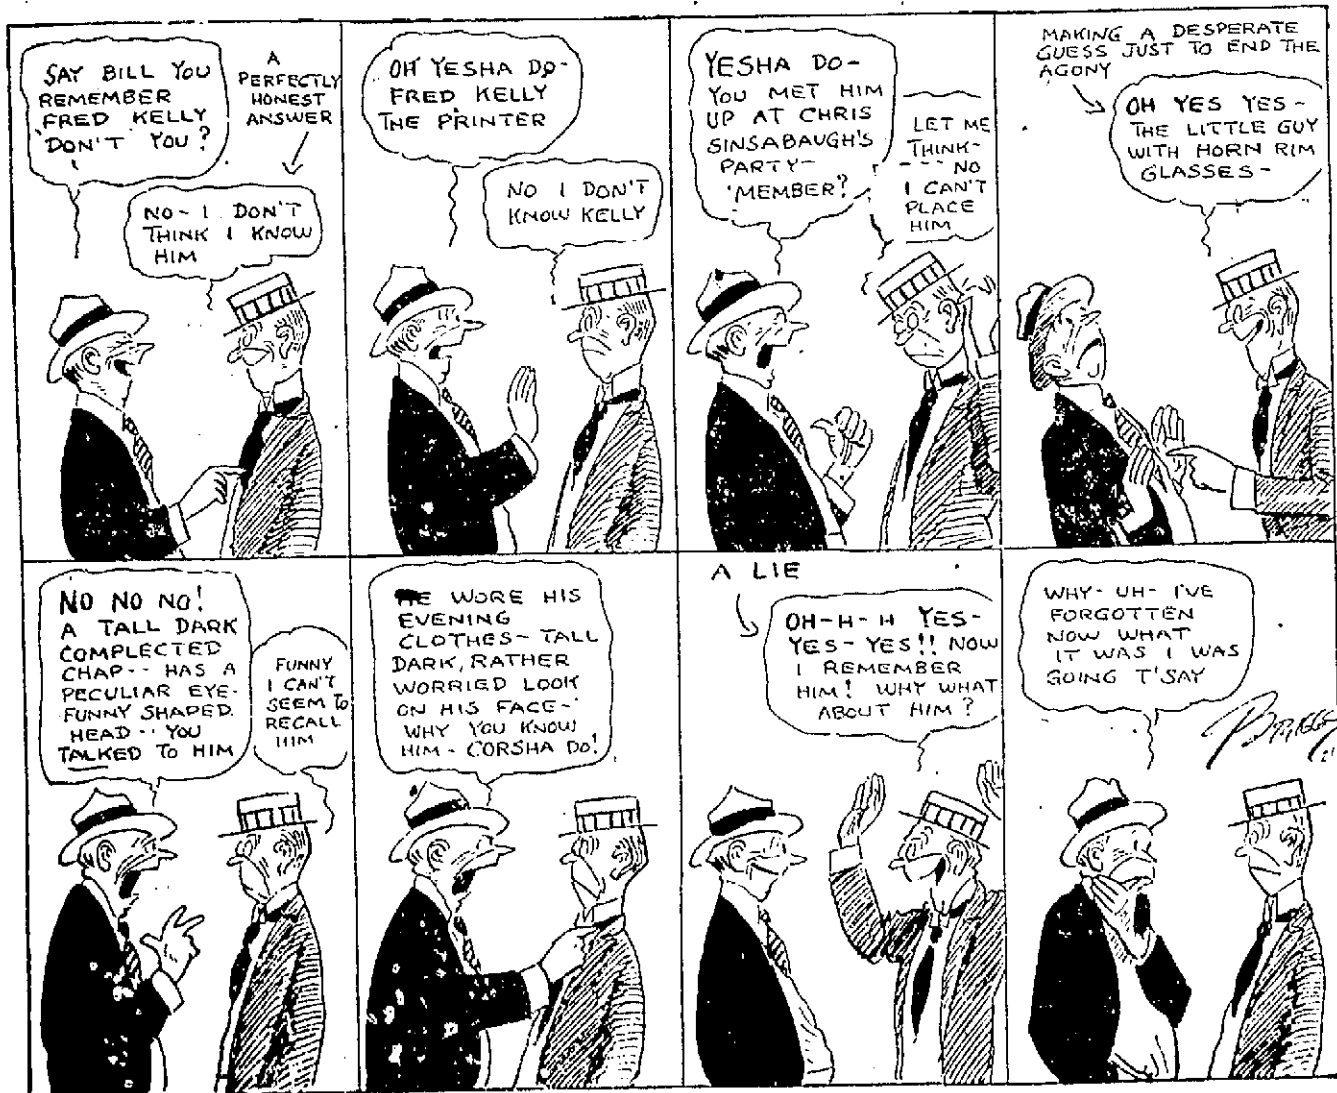

H. M. Paul, managing editor of the Irononian, yesterday received a telegram from Hon. J. E. SAYS ACTION OF BOARD IS ILLEGAL

IRONTON, Aug. 30.—A ruling from the attorney general of Ohio, received here by Examiner Householder, who is conducting an examination of county officers, holds that the reelection of the county board of education is illegal, due to the fact that Tim Noel has changed districts since his location and is not now a resident of the district in which he formerly resided.

This ruling of the attorney general was given to Prof. C. B. Dillon, county school superintendent, and it is not known what action will be taken, but it is almost assured that some action will result within a short time. It will be remembered that The Register declared the action illegal at the time and the ruling of the attorney general confirms that declaration.

The Truth About the Chalmers is Worth Learning

The Chalmers is a wonderful performer under practically all driving conditions.

The motor has greater power, greater silence and smoothness, quicker response.

Less fuel and oil are used. Upkeep and replacement charges are generally lower.

This is the truth about the Chalmers as it is today.

The testimony of Chalmers owners confirms these statements.

We will be glad to prove them by a demonstration of the Chalmers.

Injuries May Prove Fatal To Dam Worker

Caught between a dredge boat and a crane, known as a "cla mshell," while at his work as an engineer at Dam 30, under construction near Greenup, J. F. Seiser, was severely crushed about the hips and otherwise seriously injured late Monday afternoon. The injured young man was rushed to Martinsburg hospital, Ironton, in an ambulance last night after considerable delay in securing adequate vehicle for the trip. Seiser's condition was regarded as extremely critical when he arrived at the institution and it was believed his injuries may prove fatal.

A GENTLE WAY TO END CORNS

The Modern Method, Scientific, Easy, Quick and Sure

The old corn enders were harsh, crude and uncertain. They came into disrepute. Then a world-famed laboratory created a new method, and millions have adopted it. The new way is Blue-jay—liquid or plaster. One applies it by a touch. The pain stops instantly, and soon the whole corn loosens and comes out.

To pare a corn and keep it now is folly. Stop it the moment it appears. Remove it in this gentle way. Watch on corn go when Blue-jay is applied. You will let it deal with all corns after that. Send to the drug store now.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—Please print the different wedding anniversaries for me. Also tell me how they should be celebrated.

MRS. X. Y. Z.
First, cotton; second, paper, third, feathers; fourth, fruits and flowers; fifth, wooden; sixth, sugar; seventh, woolen; eighth, India rubber; ninth, willow; tenth, tin; eleventh, steel; twelfth, linen; thirteenth, lace; fourteenth, ivory; fifteenth, crystal; sixteenth, china; seventeenth, silver; eighteenth, pearl; nineteenth, ruby; twentieth, gold; twenty-first, diamond.

Such anniversaries are most enjoyable when they are least formal, and sometimes even older persons like to join in a little good-natured frolic at such times. The decorations should always be carefully planned with an attempt at a novel effect. For a tin wedding supper the dishes might all be of tin, the different courses being served in tin plates. For the paper wedding the dishes might be of paper with paper napkins. Bunches of raw cotton are excellent for decorations for the cotton wedding.

Dear Dolly—I am a girl of sixteen and have a boy friend of nineteen who has the habit of calling me up any time he feels like it. Two weeks ago Sunday he called up about eight o'clock. I had gone to a show with my girl chum. My mother told him where I was. Then he did not call up for two weeks and he said I was out with another fellow, which was not true. He has my comb and several pictures which I asked him for but he refuses to give them to me. I have only been with one fellow since I met this young man. When I was at the lake several weeks ago I asked him to come down to see me, which he said he would do. He was to come on Sunday, but on Saturday morning I called him up and asked him to come Saturday evening as I wanted to have home Saturday instead of Sunday. He came and acted just fine. I have not been with him for over a week. Last night I called him up and he answered the phone. While I was talking to him he called his mother to the phone. When she started to talk I hung up as I knew she was going to bowl me out for calling him up. Should I write and ask the young man for my pictures and comb? He says you think he cares for me? He does not like to have me go with other fellows, but I will not stay at home and wait for him to call me. Do you think I am doing the wise thing?

B. E. G.
I do not believe the young man cares for you. If he cared he would not have called his mother to the phone when you telephoned him. You should not have phoned him in the first place, and furthermore it was very ill-bred to hang up the receiver when his mother was talking. Forget the young man. After what has happened it is useless to expect him to come to you in the future. It would be all right to write a note asking for the pictures and comb. Make the note brief and say nothing which does not concern the return of the articles.

Dear Dolly—I am a girl of eighteen and have a boy friend who boards at our house. He is a very nice boy and treats me kindly. My mother objects to my going with him because he is not well-to-do. I love him and would feel very lonely without his company. Please advise me whether I should go steadily with him or should I listen to my mother?
PEGGY.
Listen to your mother. Keep the young man as a friend, but do not go with him exclusively until you are older and until he is in a financial position which would warrant his requesting you to give up other friends.

Dear Dolly—If a girl goes car riding with a boy, would it be proper to stop along the road if they both acted all right?
GREEN.
A great deal of heartaches in the world results from indiscretions while girls and boys are out automobile riding unchaperoned. It would not be wise or "proper" to stop along the roadside. To passers by it would not be evident that both "acted all right."

Dear Dolly—Will you kindly advise if it is not correct for a gentleman to raise his hat when with a lady and she speaks to a gentleman not known to him?
CURIOUS.
Yes, he should tip his hat.

Dear Dolly—I am a girl of twenty-two years and would like to know if you consider it advisable to correspond with more than one young gentleman?

At the age of 16 you are too young to be popular with the boys. I would advise you to stay away from dances unless you are accompanied by some older person. When you are older you will probably have attention, too, although you may never be what you consider popular. Popularity is a question of personality. Some very fine girls never attract in numbers. I think, however, that as just as happy with their few friends.

CHILDREN MUST HAVE MILK

Experts say that every child should have a quart of milk a day. Adults can get along with a pint. This fluid food, probably the most important taken into the human system, balances the ordinary ration, making sure that the body is supplied with all the elements vital to its health and strength.

But deadly dangers lurk in some milk. How can you tell whether milk is good or bad? Not by looking at it or by tasting it. It is a duty to yourself and your family to provide protection against these dangers.

Dr. Milton J. Rosenau, Professor of Preventive Medicine and Hygiene at Harvard University, formerly Director of the Hygienic Laboratory of the United States Public Health Service, and a world authority on milk, has prepared an illustrated booklet entitled "All About Milk."

The facts contained in this booklet will benefit any individual who reads it. Knowledge means health—often life itself.

Our Washington Information Bureau will send a copy of this booklet free, and mail it to any reader who fills out the coupon below and encloses two cents in stamps for return postage. Be sure to write or print name and address clearly.

The Bramley, for Sweet Sixteen

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—If you are sweet sixteen or younger you have, of course, a "Bramley."

The simple, straight-lined, youthful costume with its demure white collar and cuffs has affected the neck line more than any other domestic fashion. The high, round neck has almost supplanted the lower cut for young girls. Franklin Simon's three-piece suit is as indispensable to the Junior Miss as a Peter Thompson.

This season's Bramley, of Jersey wool, has a circular cape with cording at the shoulders. The cuffs and collar are of white linen.

The Bramley comes in all the darker shades, navy, brown, heuba, and of course, no style so Puritan in suggestion could be evolved without gray.

GIRLS! LEMONS

BLEACH SKIN WHITE

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents. Shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate—advertisement.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

ARLINE'S HOPES RISE

From that day Arline commenced to lay her plans. The old adage, "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned," found its truth in the pampered girl who had had her deepest hopes thwarted at the eleventh hour.

Day after day, while Cherry and Ned were dreaming among the mountains of their retreat, Arline was sitting her thinking cap in motion as deftly as she knew how. It was due to this that Ned received a letter from her stating that conditions at home were so impossible she had decided to strike out for herself again. Would he consider her as a perfectly good secretary? "She was so used to him and the work of his office, she hesitated to try other fields in the business world. It was doubly hard for a girl like herself," etc., etc.

No mention of the past was made in that discreet letter, and as far as Ned was concerned, there was no past. Arline was just a good friend with whom he had had some splendid times, and to whom he owed but the friendly consideration due to any girl he had chummed with.

Accordingly he wired her that she was accepted and that she might go to the office ahead of him, as he was still on his honeymoon and in no hurry to leave. These words were a knife in the heart of the expectant Arline, as may be imagined.

Enter: The "Waist-Line Sleeve"

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—We see and hear a lot about the new sleeves in gowns. The sleeves in coats are just about as insistent for comment.

Last year we couldn't write about coat sleeves for the simple reason that there were none—to speak of, or to write about. Most of the "coats" were wraps.

In the new coat from Franklin, Simon, the sleeve is a most interesting feature.

Not only does it show a novel cuff with the big sleeve extending beyond the wrist far but it is known as the "waist-line sleeve."

This new cut has supplanted the wrap or kimono effect.

The high choker collar is of taupe wolf as are the deep bands on the skirt.

The material is mainly trown duveteen.

of state to bring the United States into the league without even referring the matter to Congress. The Senate once before foresaw such a possibility and in the original Lodge reservations to the Versailles pact, the Senate "irreconcilables" used language that would have prohibited the executive from assuming any obligations under the league covenant without the "express consent of Congress." The Lodge reservations also prohibited any American citizen from ever serving in the league and forbade American participation in any commission of the league without the consent of Congress. The opponents of the League reservations insisted that such a viewpoint was inconsistent with the constitution which gives the executive broad powers to deal with foreign governments but in the heat of the controversy the objections went unheeded.

No Prohibition Against League Membership

Now, however, when the final word is being said about our treaty relations with Germany, no prohibition against future membership in the league or any of its commissions is made. The two important paragraphs of the new treaty hearing on this point read as follows:

"That the United States shall not be bound by the provisions of part one of that treaty (covenant of the League of Nations in Versailles treaty) nor by any provisions of that treaty which relate to the covenant of the League of Nations, nor shall the United States be bound by any action taken by the League of Nations or by the council or by the assembly thereof, unless the United States shall expressly give its assent to such action."

"That while the United States is privileged to participate in the reparations commission according to the terms of part eight of that treaty and in any other commission established under the treaty (of Versailles), or agreement supplemental thereto, the United States is not bound to participate in any such commission unless it shall elect to do so."

Congress Not Mentioned

The above provisions make it clear that the United States isn't "bound" by the covenant unless it gives its consent. The council of the League of Nations operates any way under rules requiring unanimous agreement so America could not be bound any way unless she gave her consent. But the phrase "unless the United States shall expressly give its consent to such action" significantly omits reference to congress as was insisted upon so specifically in the League resolutions. And the words "United States" have always been interpreted to mean the president or secretary of state unless a treaty were being negotiated. Fees Of League Outfitted. Either the "Irreconcilables" missed a point or Secretary Hughes, with a long look ahead, outwitted the anti-leaguers. It is too late for the foe of the league to ask for amendments to the Hughes-Knox treaty for this administration like its predecessor intends to insist that the document be accepted by the legislative branch without the crossing of a "t" or the dotting of an "i." Ratification will be a difficult enough task in the Reichstag without opening the new treaty to amendments. The friends of the league are satisfied—the door has not been closed on ultimate membership of the United States in the League of Nations.

12,000 Deaths In 1920 Due To Autos

NEW YORK, August 30.—An estimate that $4,500,000 was paid by life insurance companies in death claims from automobile fatalities during 1920, is published today by the Insurance News. Statistics are quoted to show that during the year the automobile caused 12,000 fatalities and 1,500,000 non-fatal injury.

Life insurance distributions for the year by companies operating in the United States and Canada, aggregated $1,002,066,434, including death claims of all sorts, matured endowments, annuities, dividends and the like.

Largest among the deaths settled during the year was $555,000 paid to the heirs of Wallace L. Pierce, Boston grocer. The heirs of Jake L. Hamon, of Ardmore, Okla., received $405,000. Olive Thomas Pickford, motion picture star, who died suddenly in Paris, was insured for $135,000. The largest payment on the death of a woman was $100,880 on Pearl Wright, of New Orleans.

Open Campaign To Enforce Prohibition

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., August 30.—A ten months' campaign for better enforcement of the prohibition amendment was begun today at Noblesville, Ind., by the flying squadron foundation, an Indiana corporation, formed under guidance of the late J. Frank Hanly, former governor of Indiana. Hanly, following the flying squadron campaign of 1914 and 1915. After a swing through Indiana the three groups of flying squadron representatives will enter Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York in the order named and will close the ten months' campaign in New England. Oliver W. Stewart, president of the flying squadron foundation, said: "The flying squadron idea, conceived in 1914, made its first demonstration through a temporary organization, Mr. Stewart said. After the 1915 campaign the permanent organization was effected and has existed since, working for the enforcement of the national prohibition provisions. The ten months' movement arises from the belief that it is greatly needed, Mr. Stewart declared."

Legal Fraternity In Session In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, O., August 30.—Sectional meetings of various branches of the legal fraternity met today in sessions preliminary to the convening of the general session of the American Bar Association tomorrow.

Reports from city and state bar associations were to be heard by a conference of delegates to the convention and separate meetings of the judicial, public utilities, criminal law and legal education sections were on the program.

Elmer Root, former secretary of state, was the principal speaker today. As chairman of the section of legal education, Mr. Root was to open the section with an address to be followed by reports of officers.

In the public utility section, the program was headed by an address by Joseph Wilby, of Cincinnati, on public utility regulations in Ohio. A discussion embracing franchises, fixing of rates by commissions, and competition of public service automobiles with railroads followed.

Legislation to govern aviation was still to be thrashed out by the conference of commissioners on uniform state laws today.

Man Who Killed Morford Of Munn's Run Held Without Bail

According to a newspaper clipping from the Warrensburg (Mo.) State Journal, Ernest Morford, well known resident of Munn's Run, was killed by Mathew McCowan, well known farmer of Johnson county, Mo., the cause of the fatality being jealousy over a young woman who was known in that community as McCowan's common law wife. McCowan has been arrested and charged with first degree murder of McCowan, after stories of eye witnesses were heard at the coroner's inquest.

The woman, Cornelia Burgess, who had been living with McCowan left him and went to live on an adjoining farm owned by McCowan. Morford was employed as a farm hand by the woman and this is said to have aroused McCowan's jealousy. McCowan is in jail and is held without bail. According to eye witnesses McCowan also threatened to kill the Burgess woman after shooting Morford through the shoulder and head with a shotgun. The woman escaped by running and hiding in a barn.

Quit Laxatives, Purges; Try NR

NR Tonight—Tomorrow Feel Right

It is a mistake to continually dose yourself with so-called laxative pills, colic, oil, purges and cathartics and force bowel action. It weakens the bowels and liver and makes constant dosing necessary. Why don't you begin right today to overcome your constipation and get your system in such shape that daily purging will be unnecessary? You can do so if you get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and take one each night for a week or so. NR Tablets do much more than merely cause pleasant easy bowel action. This medicine acts upon the digestive as well as eliminative organs. It promotes good digestion, causes the body to get the nourishment from all the food you eat, gives you a good, hearty appetite, stimulates the liver, overcomes biliousness, regulates kidney and bowel action and gives the whole body a thorough cleaning out. This accomplished you will not have to take medicine every day. An occasional NR tablet will keep your body in condition and you can always feel your best. Try Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and prove this. It is the best bowel medicine that you can use and costs only 25c per box, containing enough to last twenty-four days. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist. Stewart's Drug Store

The Symbolic Eagle. The eagle stood for two things in ancient symbolism. The Greek name for the monarch of the air was a word meaning "rapid motion." The deeply mystic Hebrews, after watching the great bird sitting motionless, contemplating the sun, gave it a name which meant "meditation." In early Christian art the eagle became the symbol of spiritual power, because it was able to soar tirelessly through the highest places. The lion was the symbol of human pride and temporal power.

LABOR DAY PARADE TO BE IMPRESSIVE AFFAIR

Judging from the interest manifested in the Labor Day parade to be held next Monday, this year's turnout will be the biggest and best ever held in Portsmouth in recent years. The Central Labor Council representatives making arrangements for the Labor Day celebration have the promise of organizations that they will turn out almost 100 per cent, which means there will be hundreds in line. At a special meeting of Central Labor Council Monday night final plans for the parade were completed. This work included the line of march and places of formation for the various units, and fixing of time for parade to start. The parade is to move promptly at 9:30 o'clock. The line of march as decided upon last night will be as follows:

West on Third from Washington to Market, south on Market to Second, east on Second to Chillicothe, north on Chillicothe to Ninth, east on Ninth to Waller, south on Waller to Gallia, west on Gallia to Fifth. The parade will disband on Fifth, west of Chillicothe.

The head of the parade will include the River City band, city officials, American Legion and Boy Scouts. They will form in line on Third west of Washington street.

The first division of local members will form on Washington street north of Third and will include carpenters, city electricians, painters, plasterers, bricklayers and plumbers. Edward Switalski, Charles Flynn and Joseph O'Leary will have charge of this division.

Joe Diener, Henry Uhl and William Rapp will head the second division which will form on Washington south of Court and which will consist of journeyman barbers, sheet mill workers, street railway employees and typographical workers.

On Court street south of Third, the third division will form. This division will be in charge of Clarence Eyles, Oscar Strong and A. P. Halght and will include car repairers, railway trackmen, railway electricians, boiler-makers and blacksmiths.

The fourth division, which will be in charge of Lou Herder, W. T. Egan and Harry Strong, will form on Court street north of Third. It will include a band, retail clerks, iron molders, sheet metal workers, lathers, stationary engineers, firemen and others.

All floats not belonging to organizations will form on Fourth street, east of Court. The fire department will be at the end of the parade forming on Court street, north of Fourth.

The following firms and individuals will be represented in the parade by a float: Bragdon's Salvage, Marth's, H. S. Howe Motor Company, Windel Motor Company, Royal Savings and Loan, Hershaw's, Bennett-Balchcock, Kline's, Home Vulcanizing Company, Anderson's, Wolff Clothing Company, E. O. McCowen (school float), Hill-top Bakery, Distel's, American Legion, Lewis Furniture Company, Lehman's, Sommer Brothers' Hardware, Glockner and Sommer Grocery, Universal Motor Company, Albert Maier, Neudorfer-Silcox, and Columbia Theatre.

And other firms or individuals desiring to participate in the parade or enter floats may do so by notifying Lou Herder.

At the conclusion of the parade the scene of activity will switch to Millbrook Park where all kinds of athletic contests and games will be staged with everything from baseball to baby contests.

J. A. Booker Treasurer Of Local Horseshoe Club

J. A. Booker was last night unanimously elected treasurer of the Portsmouth Horseshoe Club. A brief meeting was held on the grounds just before the games started, to take action on the coming of C. C. Davis to this city, and to decide what to do about Daylight Saving coming to an end on Labor Day.

It was unanimously decided that since it would be impossible to pitch by daylight after the town went back to old time that they would pitch by electric light instead, rather than to close the tournament right in the middle and Ed Brady, chairman, Norman Kitchen and W. Cline were elected as a committee to see about wiring and lighting the grounds.

The big event of the week to lovers of horseshoe pitching will be the coming of C. C. Davis, the great horseshoe champion, to our city on Thursday. A committee of Don Cross, chairman, J. A. Booker, Ernest Davis, G. A. Beasley and E. C. McCoy were elected the committee on arrangements.

The exhibition will be held at 6 p. m. on Thursday evening, probably at the Industrial Grounds. Mr. Davis is not only a champion horseshoe pitcher, but can do a number of other things as well. He will give an exhibition of pitching around nickles and dimes, lighting matches by pitched shoes and with a blanket held between him and the peg, pitch ringers on the peg he cannot see. It is an exhibition that will be well worth coming to see and that will be open to all. An admission of ten cents will be charged to defray expenses.

Culling Demonstrations

Poultry culling demonstrations were held at 24 farms in the county the past two weeks. Two scheduled meetings were postponed. Two other scheduled meetings were not held as only one or two people were present and these had attended demonstrations elsewhere and knew how to cull.

Of the 24 demonstrations, Mr. J. S. Alley, Lucasville, conducted eight, six of which have not been reported. Sixteen were conducted by the county agent. Results of the 18 demonstrations on which reports were made, are as follows:

Attendance 363; hens handled 1300;

culls 422; percent of culls 32%.

The hens thrown out as culls would not lay for at least six months. During that time they would have consumed at least 60 cents worth of feed. This means a saving to the 18 demonstration farms of at least 422 times 60 cents, or $253.20.

The value of this work, however, does not stop at this saving, for of the 363 people who attended the demonstrations 115 signed cards signifying their intention of culling their flocks the same percentage of culls, there will be 1665 more loafers disposed of from these 115 flocks which would mean a saving of at least $1000 to their owners.

It is difficult to figure just how far-reaching this work may be. Perhaps many more than the 115 who signed the pledge cards will go over their flocks. Then again, it has already been observed that many persons after attending one of these demonstrations become so enthusiastic over their work that they succeed in interesting their neighbors and teaching them the points to look to in picking out the non-producing hens.

First Days Attendance At Fair Breaks Record

COLUMBUS, O., August 30.—Columbus Day is being celebrated today at the Ohio State Fair, which is being held here. Exhibitors from the whole city are vying with each other in their displays to win some of the many souvenirs.

The Manufacturers and Jobbers' Association of the Chamber of Commerce is in charge of today's program. All Columbus non-day organizations have been called to lunch on the grounds.

Yesterday was Ladies' Day, the ladies being admitted free of charge and it swelled the opening day total to approximately 60,000, the largest in the history of the fair.

Livestock valued at $2,000,000 is on the grounds and stock judging that usually starts Tuesday, was started yesterday on account of the numerous entries.

A Paradox: It takes ovens of 500° of heat to make this cooling breakfast dish—

Post Toasties
best corn flakes

Also it's a cold fact that unless you say "Post Toasties" to your grocer you're liable to get ordinary Corn Flakes.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Selected issues were subjected to renewed selling pressure at the opening of today's stock market. American Sugar, American Tobacco and Famous Players lost one to two points. Studebaker, United Drug, American Agricultural Chemical, Colorado Fuel and American Mercantile p'd. also were heavy. Utilities continued to reflect the adverse conditions in the local traction situation. Mexican Petroleum was strongest of the leaders, rising 1 1/2 points; and other foreign oils hardened. Rails were dull at nominal gains and losses.
NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Oils, shipping, special steels, rubber and chemicals led the further gains of the dull forenoon. Mexican Petroleum, Atlantic Gulf common and preferred, American International, Mercantile Marine preferred, Vanadium and Republic advanced 1 to 3 points. American Agricultural preferred, Virginia-Carolina common and preferred, United States
Rubber common and first preferred,
California Packing and Endicott-Johnson preferred also improved. Norfolk and Western featured the rally at a gain of 2 1/2 points. Reading and American Pacific showing support. The heaviness of General Asphalt undermined the oils before noon. Mexican Petroleum reacting two points. Call money opened at 5 per cent, but soon was offered at 4 1/2.
NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Further buying of standard issues in the stock market today, with advances of 1 to 4 points induced by easier money, a better investment inquiry and other favorable factors.
Sales approximated 550,000 shares.
The closing was strong.

"Greek Lion" With Circus Fails To Flop Chas. Kiegler

Charles Kieglar, local heavyweight wrestler, earned $20 easily Monday by meeting the John Robinson's circus wrestler, Bill Leon, known as the "Greek Lion," one of the best known heavyweights in the world. Mr. Kieglar was asked by the circus people Monday about noon to meet Leon, and Kieglar did not refuse, being willing to take a chance with the circus heavyweight although he has a good record in the game. In the afternoon and evening Kieglar stayed the necessary 15 minutes and should have received $20 for both performances, but at the close of the night show he was paid $50 only. He accepted it after realizing that he did not have any written contract with which he could hold the circus management to its announcement of $50 for each 15-minute show. Leon is one of the best horse men ever tackled and he has met some of the best. In the evening, he claims, the circus man wrestled harder in an effort to show the crowd that he could throw Klegler, but his efforts proved futile.

GROVER ALEXANDER is coaching Cub yearling pitchers again under the Killefer regime.

Big Alex tried it this spring, but was discouraged by Johnny Evers. Just why a man of Evers' shrewdness would interfere is hard to figure. It seems he has much to learn. Alex certainly knows what's what and when about pitching smartness. He is getting results.

DRIVING
JOHN MCGRAW'S Giants have started a drive that has taken the cock-sureness out of Pittsburg's pennant enthusiasm.

Last year New York walked forward at a terrific clip. But they were too far back to catch the consistent Red Sox.

It's different now. The Pirates' lead is less than a half dozen games. A week's advance would carry them over the top.

30,000 will be provided for just before the Yule game.

FORD AS A RAIL CHIEF

HENRY FORD, the automobile manufacturer, without having shown any particular genius for railroad operation, takes over a fair-sized rail line in the middle west with a deficit and within a few months turns the deficit into a profit of $500,000.

That's a fair job to start with, but he has cut two hours from the running schedule between Detroit and Bainbridge, O., a distance of 280 miles, and by speeding up has reduced from 22 to 14 days his deliveries. Under the old management the company handled 200 railroad cars in 24 hours. Under the new the number is 1,200. Wages of his employees are higher than the union scale and only recently he asked the interstate commerce commission's consent to reduce freight rates 20 per cent.

What does all this mean to the general railroad situation? Is Ford playing in special luck? Does he have special advantages over other rail chiefs. Why cannot the Ford system be duplicated? Farmers especially are asking these questions and the list of questioners grows.

It would seem to be up to the other railroad chiefs to imitate Ford or show him up.

HELP FOR MOTHERS

THE energetic women who are vigorously backing the maternity bill now before congress are able to muster strong arguments why the national government should do something for the mothers of the nation. It is certainly a cause for deep thought to be told that 20,000 women died in the United States last year in bringing American citizens into the world, a very large proportion of whom would be still living if they had received proper care. It is certainly provocative of concern to know that this year will see a similar number of women lay down their lives in like manner, and that next year unless adequate preventive measures are taken, another 20,000 will join the sad procession to the cemeteries of the nation.

There are tens of thousands of physically disabled women in the United States who need proper attention and care at an exceedingly critical period, and the question is, who shall provide it? In a great many cases private help is out of the question. It is a financial impossibility. Some say this is a matter for states and other local authorities to deal with. Perhaps there should be co-operation between the national government and the authorities of the commonwealth. But the nation is not derelict in matters affecting the health and pertaining to diseases of cattle and swine and sheep. There is much ground for the contention that the mothers and the new-born children of the republic are of infinitely more value than animals.

From Boulogne comes the apparently authoritative announcement that Monsieur Georges Carpentier will retire from the fistic arena after meeting Mr. Tom Gibbons, of St. Paul. The Immigrant Finds A Backer

By Frederic J. Haskin

NEW YORK CITY, August 30.—

The widespread prevalence of unemployment in this country is proving no check to the incoming tide of aliens. The green Goddess of Liberty continues to beckon with her torch, although the "No More Help Wanted" sign occurs with dismal frequency throughout the land. Every liner brings in its hundreds of immigrants who have fled the industrial depression of their respective countries only to encounter a similar, if less desperate depression here.

While most of them are destined to join friends or relatives, the great majority have no definite assurance that they will be able to obtain work. The absence of any such prospect, however, does not seem to bother them. They are more willing to take their chances with the 5,700,000 Americans now out of jobs. Their immigration, they feel, is by no means a case of jumping from the frying pan into the fire.

Talk with some of these self-confident aliens at Ellis Island, and you will better understand the spirit of grim hopefulness which inspires them. A good many are of a much higher type than that which demanded entrance to this country before the war. A surprising number of Norwegians have been coming in, for instance, as well as Finns, Danes, and Dutch farmers, but, of course, they do not begin to match numbers with the Italians, Russians and Czechoslovaks. All of the immigrants manifest a great eagerness to obtain work, but they are particular as to the kind. Scarcely any will consider going on farms. They want to stay in the big cities and go into the factories and shops.

Wandering about Ellis Island, the reporter observed a group of tall, lanky Norwegians who were headed for the lumber camps of the northwest, several Germans who had been promised work in bakeries and delicatessen shops in New York, a silent, patient group of Dutch peasants who were going to be taken care of by the Dutch immigration headquarters, and a few Czechoslovaks, who were destined for shop work in Chicago. As far as could be ascertained, the great mass of others had nothing further in view than a welcome from friends and relatives.

Some Typical Cases

One of the Czechoslovaks said that his brother had found a factory job for him in Chicago. He spoke enthusiastically in giant Slavic syllables, which an interpreter neatly converted into plain English. In the old country, the man explained, he had made only forty cents a day, but that had been on a farm. He laughed scornfully when it was suggested that he might find farming more congenial than factory work in this country.

No; the new immigrants know what they want in the way of work; and, as a matter of fact, they stand a fairly good chance of getting it. They have all the advantages on their side when it comes to competing with American-born workmen. The immigrant may not be able to speak English and he may not be acquainted with American customs, but these things are scarcely necessary. Upon arriving in this country, he is met by friends or relatives who speak his own language and who immediately enroll him in a colony which speaks its own. He can read the signs on its stores and he can read his newspaper. There he finds people from his own province, perhaps his own little town—people even who know his family. They cluster around him and pay him extravagant compliments while he gives them the latest news from home. There is (alas, Mr. Volstead) wine, as a rule, and food of the peculiar, native kind to which he has been accustomed.

Somewhere in the district, moreover, there is almost always a relative who stands in with one of its prominent men—a man who controls many jobs and knows the location of many others. This important personage is frequently an American-born member of the race who, resisting assimilation, has remained in his native colony because it yielded him abundant profits. If the immigrant fails to obtain employment through him, there is always the foreign employment agency to which he may apply.

Thus it may be seen that the plight of the newly-arrived immigrant is by no means as harrowing as some are wont to depict it. Compare it, indeed, with the lot of the average unemployed American workman, who, lacking this racial clannishness, is an isolated unit in the community, and its superior advantages will be apparent.

In the past, perhaps, before large foreign colonies were built up in all of our big cities, the immigrant's struggle was unduly arduous, but since the war, conditions may have improved for him. For one thing, he is no longer cast off like deadwood from his native land and left to drift for himself by an alien government. In the eyes of both his mother and foster countries he has become a figure of importance. While the United States is proceeding industriously with its Americanization campaign, European nations are building up strong nationalization programs.

The Homeland Helps

Before the war, the chief European nations were too powerful and self-complacent to worry over the emigration of their surplus population. The Western Hemisphere, they felt, was more than welcome to it. There was, they decided, no necessity for a definite emigration policy. The war, however, revealed two disagreeable facts: That each nation was harboring disloyal aliens within its borders, and that its own loyal sons on foreign soil had been ignored until they were beyond reclaiming.

Every important European nation now has an immigration policy influenced by these two discrepencies. Every nation is encouraging the emigration of alien nationalities from its borders, which explains the tremendous exodus of Hungarians from Czechoslovakia and of Jews from all of Europe. Every nation is refusing to receive back in its fold aliens who left it during the war to fight for their mother countries. Every nation is determined to keep track of its own native emigrants; to see that they are well protected in foreign lands, and thus win and keep their loyalty. Holland has already called a conference of European states to consider uniform plans for affording such protection, and it has been one of the first countries to open immigration aid bureaus in foreign cities.

According to Frances Kellor, an American woman who recently toured Europe with a view to studying its emigration policies, many countries have enlarged the powers of their consulates in the United States to protect immigrants, and they are supporting societies and houses and movements to look after their nationals. "They are encouraging them to apply to their consulates for advice and assistance," she says. "In this work they have all support from a considerable part of the foreign language press in this country."

They mean to control the interests of their immigrants by advancing their economic interests; by the establishment of parish schools; by supporting the foreign language press through advertising; and by fostering the establishment of cultural societies—all for the purpose of perpetuating the language, ideals, culture and interests of the native land.

"They mean also to keep in touch with their nationals by social events, and so far as the United States is concerned, it will see more and more distinguished members of these races visiting their nationals here as guests of honor, for the purpose of preserving home ties. They mean at least to consider the advisability of giving their nationals abroad representation in the home country. They favor the establishment of immigrant banks and of branch banks in immigrant countries where the native language is spoken to stimulate the transmission of money, home and investments in the home land."

In other words, in the future no European nation is going to lend its own power to promote the development of a competitive country. It will let its men go to relieve an economic strain, but it will demand them back, with interest, when the proper time comes. This definite policy may not be pleasant for the United States, but it is line for the immigrants. It is a knowledge of the subject, but he said he was going to be a farmer.

"Suppose you were a farmer," said Uncle Wallace, "and a man came along and offered to buy six cows for $50 each, how would you know what to charge him for the six?"

Frizze pondered a minute, and then said, "I'd sell him one at a time."

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MONTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The world's champion at play! At the Palace Royal a night or two ago I sat two tables removed from Jack Dempsey. He deflected in with the after theatre crowd. A big self-conscious boy who tried desperately to be the suave man of the world. His eyes glanced about nervously in apparent fear of recognition.

He was with a party of eight, all in evening dress save Dempsey who wore the conventional dark business suit, relieved by a flash of color in his cravat. He has the winning smile of the courtier but his face in repose has the black scowl of the pigmy. One imagines Dempsey as more than the casual sulk.

Now and then he engaged in brief conversation with members of his party and at such times the light of a sunny smile broke through the dark gloom. His strong white teeth gleamed. As dancing couples made their way past his ringside table they suddenly recognized him and in New York fashion stopped to gaze.

When Dempsey's eyes caught theirs he quickly shifted them away and pulled the lapels of his coat and twisted his neck in a half turn of nervousness. Once or twice he looked out over the great dance floor—recognized some acquaintance and gave a swift wave of his hand. But most of the time his eyes were riveted upon the table.

He drank from a tall glass of sparkling mineral water and toyed half heartedly with a salad of alligator pear. He danced with all three ladies in the party. Not a good dancer in the Broadway sense yet he kept good time to the music and was careful to avoid collision. His big compact shoulders loomed up largely as he weaved his way in and out among the dancers.

It was evident that he would rather be elsewhere than in the smart cafe and when a lady in the party suggested shortly before midnight that they depart Dempsey was first to his feet. He perched on a chair with no show of enjoyment. In the check room a Greek hat padrone thrust out his hand. Dempsey shook it and hurried down stairs to the street.

Each afternoon at 4 o'clock comes the zero hour on Fourteenth street. Shortly before Big Ben in the Metropolitan Tower booms a quartet of booms, they begin to appear in Fourteenth street from everywhere. Strange, furtive men, looking to the right and left. Slightly they hob up from Union Square, Third Avenue and points east and take sly positions against the buildings.

In the moment the cops begin to assume an aspect of nerve and vigor and je ne sais quoi. It means they are about to go off duty. In a moment they have gone and Fourteenth street for one brief spell, is copless, because the relief hasn't shown into view yet.

One sees signs of life. The silent, furtive men become loud, bold, aggressive. From their blouses or pants they extract boxes and bags, like the trick magician. They step to the curb. They must lose no time. They have but one brief moment. Passes! The man with pictures—from Paris. Men with cigars that explode at the eighth puff, rattle tops, cigars that carry a glass tube capacious enough for one brief shot of booze and half dolls that shimmie.

Broadway actresses send their first night floral tributes to hospitals. It is an old custom—a custom as old indeed as the habit of stars of spending their first weeks salary for flowers for themselves. In the inner circles there is a superstition that the first week's pay should be frittered away.

Just a Mere Man Edith Wharton, the writer, to'd this war story: "The American wounded were being brought in from the second Marne battle," she said, "and a funny American woman in a khaki uniform and Sam Brown belt knelt over a stretcher and said, 'Is this case an officer or only a man?' The brave corporal who stood beside the stretcher gave her a grim laugh and said: 'Well, lady, he ain't no officer, but he's been hit twice in the innards, both legs busted, he's got two bullets in both arms, and we dropped him three times without his lettin' out a squeak. So I guess you can call him a man.'"

Reflections On An Eyesee Crawlfish

From a recently discovered subterranean lake in an Ozark cave in Missouri an explorer has brought an eyesee white crawlfish, still living. In perpetual darkness it had no need of eyes. Were its ancestors a hundred thousand years ago, or more, caught in some convulsion of nature that took them from the light, with the result of an eyesee breed? Or were they created eyesee, with nature ready in the stretches of inconceivable centuries to develop eyes and sight in them when needed?

Facts are stubborn things, and nature, so far as we know it, is always ready to supply any necessity for the creatures of earth, if given time for evolution's perfect work. One wonders if the fact about this crawlfish has any bearing on the future life of man. Our physical being is simply a home for the spirit whose manifestations are made possible under earth conditions by brain and vocal organs. When the body wears out must the spirit that rules it die also? Or does nature provide other means for its intelligent existence and boundless ambitions in other surroundings?

We often think of the promise that we shall know each other in the life after our bodies die. How? Obviously not by our physical appearance, nor by our voices, because they will have perished. The recognition then must be spiritual. This leads to the query how much we know about the spirits of our associates. We know men here by their words and acts, both physical revelations of the spirit behind them. In the mysterious future we shall, we trust, be equipped with a side of the hand. It is from this delectable sensation that it derives its name.

Q. Why are racing cups called loving cups?—J. R. S.

A. All racing cups are not necessarily loving cups. A loving cup is one having two or more handles, generally constructed of silver. The custom of the loving cup is traced back to the days of wassailing. It was continued after the introduction of Christianity. The monks called the wassail bowl the "poculum caritatis," meaning "loving cup." The ceremony of drinking from one cup and passing it around was observed in the Jewish paschal supper.

Q. What is meant by a maiden assize?—H. F.

A. A maiden assize once meant an assize where no criminal was left for execution. Upon such an occasion, the judge was entitled to a pair of white gloves. A modern session of the English Court of Assize at which no prisoner is tried is known as a maiden assize, and it is customary for the sheriff of the county to present the judge with a pair of white gloves as a symbol of the innocent character of his administration.

Q. How did the gold-tree get its name?—F. E. H.

A. The superstitions veneration of the natives of the tropics for the silk-cotton tree gave it the name of gold-tree.

Q. Has Otis Skinner retired from the stage?—H. S. C.

A. The Frohman Office states that Otis Skinner has not retired. He will appear this winter in the role of a tormentor in a dramatization of Blasco Ibanez's novel "Blood and Sand."

Q. What is meant by mountain aviator's sickness?—H. S. V.

A. The effects of rarefied air produced on aviators in rapid ascensions is similar to those observed in mountain climbers. The symptoms during the returns from great heights are vertigo, ringing in the ears, frontal headache, chilliness and deafness. At very great heights hemorrhages may occur.

Q. Why do they raise the flag at sunrise and lower it at sunset in the Navy?—G. C. L.

A. The Navy Department says that the flag is raised at eight o'clock in the morning and lowered at sunset in the Navy. This is in accordance with a naval regulation. In the Army, the flag is raised at sunrise and lowered at sunset.

with even better powers of expression of the spirit. But how many of us will welcome the imbeddedness of our spirits—the revelation of exactly what we are?

Inefficient Preaching "17th. (Lord's day.) A most tedious, unreasoning and impertinent sermon by an Irish doctor," wrote Jeps in his diary in 1660; and again he wrote: "21st. (Sunday.) At church, where a stranger preached like a fool."

These quotations may or may not be pertinent to a discussion of reasons why sermons do not satisfy. A New York preacher has recently declared that it is necessary for a clergyman to be interesting in the pulpit, and that "predigested" sermons will not satisfy.

However that may be, the modern minister of the gospel must face competition if he would have an audience that will desire to hear him again. This congregation usually comes to the church for religion's sake, as the editor's audience turns to his page for the newspaper's sake. But if either audience shows disappointment, it is bound about trying it again. The second, the older, the dull man in the pulpit, ultimately meets the same fate as the lazy and uninteresting man elsewhere. Congregations are fast losing suffering under such an affliction, but one by one they seek fresher pastures for spiritual nourishment.

Living Costs Since July, 1920, when living cost was at its peak, the drop has been only 20.5 per cent. It is still 62 per cent higher than in 1914, the national industrial conference board finds and decreasing minutely from month to month. Big drops must come before times reach normal conditions.

In this connection Washington reports astonishing facts about the cost of dying, and the Government is preparing to secure indictments for extortion in all the big cities on evidence. Coffin manufacturers and distributors are found to have squeezed millions of dollars above reasonable profits out of their product. Coffins that cost $20 to manufacture are now being sold for $500 in possession of the Government show; while coffins costing $30 at the factories are being sold for $300; and $400 under selling agreements between undertakers and manufacturers.
